Online Training Gender in Humanitarian Action

This training has been designed to answer the recurrent demand for a stand-alone training on gender, enabling humanitarian practitioners to have an increased understanding of what is gender equality programming and how to apply it in their respective areas of work. The objective of the Gender in Humanitarian Action training is to provide participants with a variety of practical tools on gender that are transferable to the range of situations in which humanitarian workers may find themselves in the field.

This training provides introductory guidance – through information and practical examples – on the fundamentals of applying a gender-equality approach across all stages of the humanitarian programming cycle.

Based on the content of the IASC's 2017 Gender Handbook for Humanitarian Action, it is intended for all humanitarian staff from UN, NGOs, government and civil society looking for an introduction on how to integrate gender equality, and the empowerment of women and girls in the assessment, planning, implementation and monitoring of humanitarian programming.

Modules:

1. Introduction to gender equality in humanitarian action
2. Modules 2-6: How to integrate gender equality into the Humanitarian Programme Cycle
3. Needs assessment and analysis
4. Strategic Planning
5. Resource Mobilization
6. Implementation and monitoring
7. Operational peer review and evaluation'
