| Livelihoods co-chair elections On 17th Oct, the three self-nominated candidates were required to briefly present their experience and explain their “added value to the sector”. Then they were requested to give a brief on their organizations. Khaleel Alnajjar from Mercy Corps collected most votes. Khaleel is the Senior Program Manager of Youth Impact Lab in Jordan (funded by Google), and the MicroMentor Senior Project Manager at Mercy Corps knajjar@mercycorps.org In total, we had 20 votes representing 20 LWG member organizations, duplicate votes from the same agency were counted once, and – for additional transparency - UNHCR did not vote. | | | | | | | | | | | | | | |
