

CONTEXT

The Refugee and Migrant Response Plan (RMRP) is a regional comprehensive one-year plan, in which UN agencies and civil society organizations participate actively, to respond to the needs of refugees and migrants from Venezuela within the Latin American and Caribbean Region, as well as the needs of the impacted host communities.

As of October 2019, more than 4.5 million refugees and migrants from Venezuela would have left their country of origin, of which 3.7 million will be in the region alone. The RMRP was first launched in 2019 and includes actions to identify, plan and cover the humanitarian, protection, and socioeconomic integration needs, as well as to work on social cohesion. The RMRP was launched on November 13th ,2019 and includes 17 countries in the region.

The Ecuador Chapter of the RMRP 2020:

The total required Budget from Ecuador to the RMRP 2020 amounts to USD 199.3 million.

The main objective of the RMRP is to strengthen the Ecuadorian Government's response to the needs of the Venezuelan population in the country. All activities within the plan are focused on playing a complementary role to the Government's actions.

COORDINATION STRUCTURE

Under the co-leadership of IOM and UNHCR, the Refugee and Migrant Working Group (GTRM for its acronym in Spanish) coordinates the operational response. The intervention sectors that were established within the RMRP are reflected at the GTRM coordination structure, which has 6 thematic working groups: 1) food security; 2) WASH/Shelter/NFI; 3) protection – including GBV/human trafficking/child protection; 4) health and nutrition; 5) integration; and 6) education. The GTRM also has 3 cross-cutting working groups: 1) communication; 2) information management; and 3) cash-based interventions.

REQUIRED BUDGET BY SECTOR

In 2019, the Ecuador Chapter of the RMRP received USD 52.1 million¹, which represents 44.4% of the total requirement to assist refugees and migrants and their host communities. At the regional level the Plan was funded up to 52% of the total. For 2020, the requirement by sector is as follows:
