Four and a half months since the crisis in Sudan erupted, 4.7 million people have been forcibly displaced. More than 1 million people have arrived in neighboring countries including refugees, returnees, and third country nationals, with 3.6 million internally displaced within Sudan. These numbers continue to increase at an alarming rate as the fighting and displacement continues.

The 2023 Sudan Regional Refugee Response Plan (RRP) was launched in May 2023, revised in June 2023, and again in August 2023 reflecting the dramatic and ongoing increases in external displacement from Sudan and the resulting humanitarian crisis. The RRP outlines the multi-agency, multi-sector response strategy and financial requirements of 130 partners1 supporting host governments in Chad, Central African Republic, Egypt, Ethiopia and South Sudan to respond with life-saving interventions for a projected 1.8 million people, including refugees, refugee returnees, migrant returnees and third country nationals. As humanitarian needs continue to grow exponentially, the revised financial requirements through the end of the year have reached a staggering USD 1 billion.

The largest cross border movements have been Sudanese refugees arriving in Chad and Egypt, and South Sudanese returning to South Sudan. The budget increases in this revision are primarily for Chad and South Sudan, which both continue to receive high numbers of arrivals on a daily basis. In South Sudan, the original response plan specifically for returnees was only for three months, whereas the rest of the RRP was for six months; the five month extension to the end of the year for the South Sudan response plan is a primary factor in the significant increase in financial requirements there.

The implementation of the Sudan Regional RRP is undertaken in accordance with the Global Compact on Refugees and the Refugee Coordination Model, in close collaboration with interagency partners and other stakeholders, to support host governments who have taken the lead in responding to this crisis. UNHCR’s Regional Director for the East and Horn of Africa and the Great Lakes, Mr. Mamadou Dian Balde, has been appointed as the Regional Refugee Coordinator for the Sudan emergency. Existing coordination mechanisms are being strengthened across the response to work effectively, share information, avoid duplication of efforts, and engage development actors in supporting host communities and areas of return from the outset. UNHCR leads the response for refugees; IOM leads the response for migrants.

1. UN agencies and some INGOs are operational in more than one country and are therefore counted only once as a member of the Regional Refugee Response Plan although their interventions may vary by country, as opposed to the cumulative total across countries that was used for previous versions of the Sudan RRP.
2. This figure includes Sudanese refugees and others who were themselves refugees in Sudan now fleeing into neighbouring countries.
3. The returnee figure includes refugees and migrants who were hosted in Sudan and are now returning to their countries of origin.
4. IOM projects 49,000 TCNs of which 19,000 will be assisted under this plan.
