1. Introduction

All actions concerning children shall be guided by the principle of the best interest of the child. The principle applies to all children, including refugee, internally displaced, stateless and asylum seeking children. Since these decisions will have long lasting impacts for the individual child, UNHCR has developed a formal process for determining a child’s best interests aiming to increase consistency and ensure quality decisions. This procedure is described in UNHCR’s Guidelines for Determining the Best Interest of the Child (2008).¹

One of UNHCR’s key priorities is to protect and promote within its capacity the rights of all children falling under its mandate. At the same time, UNHCR works to ensure that the mechanism is designed to be part of a comprehensive child protection system, while ensuring child participation in close coordination with national and international child protection actors.

These Best Interest Determination Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) describe guiding principles, procedures, roles and responsibilities when assessing and deciding on the best interest of children living in non-camp settings, camps and/or other collective centres. UNHCR works closely with partners (national and international, Government organizations and Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs)) to collectively assess/decide on an individual basis, according to a set of principles and procedures by skilled people, the best interest determination of a child, forming a best interest determination (BID) panel.

2. Key Definitions

Child: any person under the age of 18, unless under the (national) law applicable to the child, majority is attained earlier.²

Child protection: the prevention of and response to abuse, neglect, exploitation of and violence against children in emergencies.³

Children without parent/caregiver care: all children not living in the overnight care of at least one of their parents/caregivers, for whatever reason and under whatever circumstances. Children without parent/caregiver who are outside their country of habitual residence or victims of emergency situations may be designated as unaccompanied or separated.

Unaccompanied Children: A child who has been separated from both parents/caregivers and relatives and who is not being cared for by an adult who, by law or custom, is responsible for doing so. This means that a child may completely be without adult care, or maybe cared for by someone not related or known to the child, or not their usual caregiver e.g. neighbour, another child under 18, or a stranger.

Separated child: a child who is separated from both parents/caregivers or from his/her previous legal or customary primary caregiver, but not necessarily from other relatives.

³Global CPWG definition: www.cpwg.net.
Orphan: an orphan is a child, both of whose parents/caregivers are known to be dead. In some countries, however, an orphan is defined as a child who has lost one parent/caregiver.

Alternative care: care that is provided when the child’s own family is unable, even with appropriate support, to provide adequate care for the child, or abandons or relinquishes the child. It may take the form of informal (traditional/spontaneous) or formal care (covered by formal legislations), including kinship care, foster care, other forms of family-based or family-like care placements, residential care, or supervised independent living arrangements.

Foster Care: Situations where children are placed by a competent authority for the purpose of alternative care in the domestic environment of a family other than the children’s own family that has been selected, qualified, approved and supervised for providing such care.

Kinship care: family-based care within the child’s extended family or with close friends of the family known to the child, whether formal or informal in nature.

Child’s guardian: a person who has been formally recognized under national law as responsible for looking after a child’s interest when the parent/caregiver of the child do not have parent/caregiver responsibility over him or her or have died.

Best Interest Assessment (BIA): The best interest assessment is a continuous process that has particular relevance for unaccompanied and separated children. It starts from the moment of their identification, and continues throughout the displacement cycle until a durable or long-term solution is implemented. Any decision and action affecting the child, including, among others, identification and registration, family tracing, the determination of the most appropriate temporary care arrangement, the appointment of a guardian, monitoring of temporary care arrangements, refugee status determination procedures, family reunification, etc. must be instilled with considerations for the best interests of the child. Such decisions and actions cannot be taken unless an assessment is made by the responsible officer on what option is in the best interests of the child.4

Best interest of the child: Broadly describes the wellbeing of a child. Wellbeing is determined by a variety of individual circumstances, such as the age, the level of maturity of the child, the presence or absence of parents/caregivers, the child’s environment and experiences.

Best interest determination (BID): Describes the formal process with strict procedural safeguards designed to determine the child’s best interests for particularly important decisions affecting the child. It should facilitate adequate child participation without discrimination, involve decision-makers with relevant areas of expertise, and balance all relevant factors in order to assess the best option.5

5Ibid.
Confidentiality: an ethical principle associated with medical and social service professions. Maintaining confidentiality requires that service providers protect information gathered about clients and agree only to share information about a client’s case with their explicit permission. All written information is kept in locked files and only non-identifying information is written down on case files. Maintaining confidentiality about abuse means service providers never discuss case details with family or friends, or with colleagues whose knowledge of the abuse is deemed unnecessary. There are limits to confidentiality while working with children.6

Informed consent: the voluntary agreement of an individual who has the legal capacity to give consent. To provide informed consent, the individual must have the capacity and maturity to know about and understand the services being offered and be legally able to give their consent. Parents/caregivers are typically responsible for giving consent for their child to receive services until the child reaches 18 years of age. In Jordan, adolescents 16 years and above are also legally able to provide consent in lieu of their parents/caregivers.7

Informed assent: the expressed willingness to participate in services. For younger children who are by definition too young to give informed consent, but old enough to understand and agree to participate in services, the child’s “informed assent” is sought. Informed assent is the expressed willingness of the child to participate in services.8

Care or interim care: Is used to describe the care arrangements for separated children, which are intended to be temporary, pending the return of the child to his or her own family. However; the term “interim” can be misleading in situations in which family tracing is unsuccessful, necessitating longer-term substitute care.

Carer, caretaker or caregiver: These terms are used interchangeably to describe the person who is exercising day to day care of a child, whether parent, relative, family friend or other person without necessary implying legal responsibility. This might include foster parents, taking in the child either spontaneously or more formally through some kind of fostering theme.

Family tracing: is the process of searching for family members or primary legal or customary caregiver. The term also refers to the search of children who parents are looking for them. The objective of tracing is reunification with parents or other close relatives.

Family Reunification: Bringing together the child and the family or previous care provider for the purpose of establishing or re-establishing long-term care. Reunification may take place in the country of asylum, country of origin, or a third country where the child or the family maybe residing.

Durable Solution: The means by which the situation of internally displaced persons can be satisfactorily and permanently resolved to enable them to live normal lives. Achieving a durable solution to internal displacement means that displaced persons enjoy the full spectrum of human rights and, as a result, are able to rebuild their lives, whether through return to the place of origin; local Settlement in the area where they have taken refuge; or settlement elsewhere the country. UNHCR defines durable solutions for refugees as voluntary repatriation, local integration and resettlement.

Gender Based Violence (GBV) is an umbrella term for any harmful act that is perpetrated against a person’s will, and that is based on socially ascribed (gender) differences between males and females.

Child Survivor: a person under the age of 18 who has experienced any form of violence, especially gender based violence.

Child Marriage: Is the union of two persons at least one of whom is under 18 years of age.

3. Key National and International Legal Frameworks

International Legal Framework (Jordan is committed to ratified Conventions by the government of Jordan)

The 1989 Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC) is the main legal instrument on the protection of children. It embodies four general principles evolving around the best interest of the child being a primary consideration; advocating for no discrimination on the ground of race, colour, sex, language, religion, political or other (opinion, social origin, disability, birth); highlights the right to life, survival and development as well as expressing children’s views freely.

4. BID vs. Comprehensive child protection systems

A comprehensive child protection system comprises laws, policies, procedures and practices designed to prevent and respond effectively to child abuse, neglect, exploitation and violence. The establishment of comprehensive child protection systems is a State responsibility, but UNHCR and other organizations support as/when needed. UNHCR applies the below illustrated steps in support of the State to ensure a comprehensive child protection system for unaccompanied and separated refugee children.

5. Guiding Principles:

- Explain the Codes of Conduct to child protection case managers and BID supervisors in addition to confidentiality then sign the Consent Form.
- Be objective and avoid conflict of interest.
- Act as advocate for the child.
- Ensure that all case management and protection staff are provided with adequate training on child protection and BID procedures.
- Ensure that staff have experience in child protection.
- The BID process should ensure adequate child participation without discrimination. It should also allow the views of the child to be given due weight in accordance with age and maturity.
- The UNHCR guidelines on determining the best interests of the child should be used as a reference.
- Any action affecting a refugee child must take into consideration the fundamental rights of children provided in the CRC and other relevant human rights laws.

6. Who is responsible for Best Interest Assessments?

Best Interest Assessments are usually done for all children at risk or UASC under the age of 18. Immediately after identification, UNHCR child protection staff and child protection/ SGBV child survivor staff working with partners on case management (Jordan River Foundation, International Medical Corps, International Rescue Committee and Nour AL Hussein Foundation) conduct best interest assessments.

7. Who is responsible for Best Interest Determination?

The primarily responsibility for Best Interest Determinations lies with the State, with UNHCR and partners operating as subsidiary and supporting actors. UNHCR and partners should seek to strengthen existing national child protection systems including appropriate procedures for the consideration of the best interest of the child.

For exceptional procedures in substitution of the State responsibilities, when national systems to determine the best interest of the child cannot reasonably be made available or accessible to children of concern or for actions taken by UNHCR and partners independently like resettlement, a BID conducted by UNHCR or implementing partners based on the BID guidelines, may help complement national child protection systems. UNHCR should make all reasonable efforts to involve the competent authorities in its own BID procedures.

In the Jordanian context, the authorities are willing and available to provide care and protection for children at risk and UNHCR/partners provide support when/as needed. A complementary approach between the authorities and UNHCR/partners is applied in Jordan whereby UNHCR and partners (including authorities) develop recommendations through the BID panel and share the recommendation further to facilitate the implementation of the decision.

9. Family Tracing

The goal of family tracing is to restore family links and enable family reunification. Tracing should start as soon as possible after identification. UNHCR conducts in-country or cross-border in collaboration with ICRC and/or other agencies in the country of asylum/country of origin.

10. Verification and Reunification

Family reunification, whenever feasible, should generally be regarded as being in the best interest of the child and an ultimate goal of tracing.

Verifications is the process of establishing the validity of relationships and confirming the willingness of the child and the family member to be reunited. Once family is traced, family relationships should be verified through an assessment (BIA). Adult and Child Verification forms attached to the inter-agency BIA form should be used for this purpose.

Reunification refers to the process of bringing together the child and family or previous care-providers for the purpose of establishing or re-establishing long-term care. It can only take place if the security situation in the area is favourable, otherwise it should be delayed (Family Reunification Form should be used to record all such information). If there are reasonable grounds to believe that the reunification could expose the child to risks or any complexities arise, a BID is required. Reasonable grounds may include: (i) doubts in family relationships; (ii) signs or history of abuse; and (iii) after long-term separation. 15

Continuous monitoring of children by case managers after reunification is essential to ensure that the reunification is sustainable and continues to be in the best interest of the child. Home visits and coordination with child protection actors providing services at child friendly spaces are frequently used as monitoring methods. Cases for which a BID is required

11.1 Temporary Care Arrangement 16

Children in need of alternative care may include the following, and need to be provided with temporary care until they are reunited with their family members or previous care-givers:

- Unaccompanied children who lack care
- Fostered unaccompanied children or separated children who are in care arrangements which are not suitable
- Children who are at imminent risk at home

In the Jordanian context, BIDs are required for all cases of UAC in need of alternative care arrangements. UNHCR and case management agencies (IMC, IRC, JRF and NHF) should assess possible care arrangements accompanied by behavioural monitors from the Ministry of Social Development. Foster Parent / Mentor Screening Form and Reference Check as well as Best Interests Determination Form should be completed.

The endorsed BID recommendation should be shared with BID panels (Amman, Mafraq including Zaatari, Azraq including cases of EJC, and Irbid. Irbid cases are currently still discussed in Amman). If approved, the recommendation should be presented by behavioural monitors at the relevant Juvenile Court for formalisation. If deferred, re-assessment and updating a BID should take place before re-discussing the recommendations in the BID panel again.

Monitoring and follow up of Interim Care Arrangement

A care plan must be in place for each child, developed with the child and caregiver. The child should have access to available services along with their caregivers and raise their awareness on the services provided. The child should have access to educational or life skills training and access to community activities. The frequency of monitoring and follow up visits should be reflected in the procedures of alternative care arrangements. Children under the care of their relatives (Kinship care) should be visited every 12 weeks whereas UAC in care arrangement must be regularly monitored and visited every 2 weeks.

11.2 Possible Separation of a Child from parents against their will Decisions leading to separation of a child from his or her parents or custody decisions need to follow strict procedures and fall within the competence of the State. UNHCR does not have the legal authority to decide on custody issues; however may monitor the process. Such cases shall be referred to the Family Protection Department through the UNHCR protection focal point. UNHCR’s BID recommendations are shared with FPD through the BID panel.

Where responsible State authorities are unwilling or unable to take action, UNHCR must take measures to protect the child. In these circumstances, UNHCR / case management partners should conduct a BID.

11.3 Best Interest Determination in the context of durable solutions

A resettlement recommendation should be subject to individual case assessment and should be formulated through a formal BID procedure, which establishes additional safeguards for the

17 Generally speaking, decisions on proposed care arrangements should be swift and not delayed by a BID procedure, unless there is an exceptional situation such as neglect and abuse by the accompanying adult, existing care arrangements are not suitable or the child is at imminent risk. Due to the fact that formalising the alternative care arrangement procedures in Jordan is recent, a BID will remain needed until capacity building efforts of case management agencies and judges on the procedures have been completed.

18 Approval of recommendation by Best Interests Determination panel (for Alternative Care)

1. The BID Panel for Unaccompanied and Separated Children (UASC) will be convened by UNHCR including UNICEF, MOSD (as explained below) and as appropriate FPD and case management staff will meet as required to review recommendations of case worker in relation to alternative care:
   1) For Syrian children: UNHCR, UNICEF and MOSD will be present
   2) For Non-Syrian children: UNHCR and MOSD will be present
   • Panel will agree on care arrangement recommendation to be presented to juvenile judge.
child. The BID process must carefully balance all rights at stake and facts in the life of the child to identify whether resettlement is the best durable solution for the UASC.

Local Integration does not apply in the Jordanian context and voluntary repatriation is not recommended for most refugee children in Jordan at this stage.

If a BID establishes the need for continued care and protection along with a durable solution, UNHCR and partner staff should establish follow up procedures to the extent possible to ensure protection of the child, his or her caregiver and so as to the support the sustainability of the durable solution. Recommendations for resettlement could be finalised in a BID report by UNHCR and case management agencies. The BID panel, at which the resettlement focal point is present, shall assess the recommendation. If the outcome of the discussion recommends resettlement as in the best interest of the child, the case should be referred to the UNHCR Resettlement Unit.

11. The BID Process

In line with the fact that the government has the primary responsibility to apply the best interest determination guidelines, the following steps should be taken into consideration when UNHCR and partners take the lead in situations where the authorities are unwilling or unable to respond to cases of children of concern. In Jordan, UNHCR and partners ensure close work with the authorities to meet the best interests of the child. The following points reflect the key steps of a BID process, highlighting the establishment of BID panels in field locations:

- Appoint a BID supervisor, which is a UNHCR staff member (please refer to BID supervisor TOR).\(^\text{19}\)
- Identify suitable partners with relevant child protection expertise. This will include partners involved in the case management process, starting with identification, completing a BID report and responding to assessed needs, follow-up and monitoring;
- Coordination between the field offices is required, particularly in cases where the child is present in one location, with family members present in another location. A BID should be initiated where the child is located. Follow-up and information collection will be required in the field location where the family lives. Any decision regarding the case should be communicated clearly between the BID supervisors in the 2 locations. For extremely complicated cases, a meeting can take place with the BID Coordinator in the Jordan Country Office.
- Identify BID panel members and establish a BID panel.
  - It is the responsibility of the UNHCR BID supervisor in each field location to establish a BID panel.
  - The UNHCR BID supervisor normally should not have the right to vote.
  - The panel is a platform to analyse individual cases and reach decisions in the best interest of the child.
  - The panel is composed of UNHCR, partner staff and whenever possible, government officials with different relevant backgrounds (e.g. FPD/MOSD).\(^\text{20}\)
  - The panel should be composed of 3-5 persons with significant expertise and should be gender balanced (the number of participants may be greater depending on the number of relevant partners involved).
  - It is the responsibility of the BID supervisor in each field location to ensure that in each situation an optimal panel composition is achieved.
  - VOTING: In Jordan, a decision should be taken by consensus. In exceptional situations, where a decision is challenged and no consensus is reached, the case should be referred to the BID Coordinator, Protection Unit, UNHCR Branch Office, Amman in the UNHCR Country Office.\(^\text{21}\)
  - The UNHCR BID supervisor must endorse any recommendation for resettlement as the most appropriate solution before discussing in the panel.
  - The UNHCR Resettlement Unit must endorse decisions that define resettlement as the most appropriate solution. It should be noted that UNHCR

\(^\text{20}\) All referrals to FPD, MOSD’s women/children centers (as last resort) should go through UNHCR field offices.

\(^\text{21}\) BID panel decisions are taken by majority, or qualified majority, depending on the panel’s composition. will undertake its best efforts to resettle cases where resettlement is found to be in the best interests and where the Resettlement Unit has endorsed the recommendation. However, resettlement may not be possible for all cases.

- The BID supervisor (field level) and BID coordinator (national level) should regularly review the SOPs with panel members to ensure that these SOPs remain up to date and relevant to the context.
- Provide regular training on child protection and BID process while assessing existing staff capacities.

12. Criteria for BID decision making
Reference should always be made to factors that determine a child’s best interest as highlighted in the Annex 9 of BID guidelines while balancing competing rights of the child and following factors.22

- Safety as a priority
- The child’s identity and history
- Relationships with family and other people close to the child
- The child’s well-being, development and protection
- The child’s views
- Views of other persons close to the child (preferably interviewed when possible)
- Seeking views of experts

The BID Report Form is used to present the information to the BID panel in a systematic and consistent manner. BID reports should not be shared with BID panel members before final endorsement by the BID supervisor. Any supporting documents (birth certificate, health certificate, custody, documented views of an expert, etc…) are valuable and should be included in the submission to the BID Panel.

13. Review by Panel
- Panel members should review documentation (BID Report) in advance. For cases involving temporary care arrangements, the assessment of foster care should also be provided. Other documents such as medical reports or judicial decisions might also be needed. Ideally, cases should be shared one week in advance. Practically speaking, BID reports are typically shared on a Tuesday morning, with the BID panel usually convened on the following Thursday. (All locations). BID supervisors in each location can decide otherwise as needed.
- Panellists should assess the recommendations, but also verify whether information is missing, contradictory or unclear.
- Priority should be given to urgent and complex cases.
- The frequency of meetings should be determined by the number of children requiring a BID. Where there are large numbers of cases pending, BID panel meetings should be convened on a bi-weekly basis unless the BID supervisor decides otherwise.
- The BID supervisor can call for an emergency BID panel meeting at any time.

• Exceptionally, quick case conference consultations can be done by e-mail, after sharing an endorsed BID report. It is generally possible, according to the Field Handbook for the Implementation of UNHCR BID Guidelines, to review up to 10 cases during a single session. However, the practice in Jordan has been to discuss 5-7 cases per session, with BID panels taking place on a weekly basis, depending on the load of cases.
• BID panel members can request further clarification. Child protection staff will need to revisit the plan and provide updated information.
• In Jordan, child protection case managers of case management agencies attend the panel to present his/her case and provide clarifications on the spot.
• To ensure objectiveness in decision making, the child protection staff member who prepared the case does not have the right to vote regarding the decision.

14. Formalising the Decision
• Decisions can be reached in the first session a case is presented to the BID Panel.
• In some circumstances, it may take more than one session to reach a consensus decision.
• The timeframe is 3 days for an emergency case and 7 days (if urgent)..
• Panel members should be committed to make timely decisions in the best interest of the child and unnecessary delays should be avoided.
• When a decision has been reached, the child protection case worker who prepared the case should inform the child and the family of the decision. Further counselling might be needed if the family opposes to the decision.
• BID supervisors are responsible for the overall monitoring of the implementation of the decisions and recommendations (in coordination with other responsible actors), and must ensure timely and appropriate follow-up.

15. Reopening and Closure of Cases

Reopening
• A BID can be reopened if either there have been changes in circumstances that could alter the original decision or the initial decision could not be implemented within a reasonable timeframe. In addition, UNHCR must review the separation of a child from parents against their will if requested by the child’s guardian or parents on the basis of new facts, evidence or legal considerations.
• It should be taken into consideration that the authorities are responsible for such a decision and UNHCR and partners are there to provide support.

Closure
• Closure of a case is a decision that should be taken by the BID supervisor. While it is difficult to establish set criteria for closure of cases, the following is a set of sample situations when a case could be closed: 23
  - The child has been placed in long-term care and this care arrangement has been formalized

16. Information management and Documentation/Keeping Records
After completing the BID report, child protection staff should enter the data into the existing data information management system or database to ensure effective case management including tracking of cases, monitoring and timely follow up. The principle of confidentiality should be adhered to.. All members attending a BID panel should have signed a confidentiality statement prior to attending the BID panel. UNHCR or partner organization child protection case managers under the supervision of the BID supervisor are responsible for updating physical files, action sheet and PROGRES with completed BID reports and BID panel recommendations. The information sharing protocol will regulate the sharing of case management data. Deliberations of the panel must be recorded in Section 3 of the BID report form and explain whether the full reason for the decision.. If any information is rejected, it must be recorded in BID form. It is recommended to keep an electronic copy in read only format of the BID report form and /or PDF Section 3 of the report including panel members signatures should be scanned and attached to the from in its final approved version Important to include checklist/instructions re. Confidential documentation of data, i.e. where hard-copies are stored, lockable locations, password protection for soft copies, contingency plans, destruction of files, etc.

17. Simplified BID Procedures
Simplified BIDs may be used in exceptional situations, primarily limited to the following points, taking into consideration that a formal decision to allow for simplified BIDs should be taken by UNHCR representative based on the recommendation of the BID supervisor.
I. Family reunification (depending on the complexity of the case)
II. Medical or protection emergencies requiring immediate resettlement response

III. Sudden movement of large numbers of unaccompanied and separated children over a short period of time.

Procedures for a simplified BID are similar to those for a regular BID, including thorough assessment, completion of the BID report form, monitoring, implementation of the decision and follow-up of each individual case. Only the decision-making process is simplified through a reduced panel of at least 2 staff members (including case management agencies) and a reviewing officer with extensive experience. The reduced panel should include the BID supervisor who chairs the panel and child protection officer with extensive experience to replace the panel members required in regular BID procedures. The reduced panel members should report back to case managers in a time frame of 3 days (emergency time frame) and 7 days (if urgent)).

18. Special Consideration for Child Survivors

- Promote the Child’s best Interest.
- Ensure the Safety of the Child
- Comfort the Child
- Ensure appropriate confidentiality
- Involve the child in decision making
- Treat every child fairly and equally (principle of non-discrimination and inclusiveness)
- Strengthen Children’s resilience
- Provide careful, child oriented psycho-social support to the child and if necessary call upon consultant specialists to support them
- Interviewers should be cognizant of the fact that some perpetrators are family members. The child should therefore be interviewed when no other family member is present; however, the parents/guardians should be informed that an interview is going to be conducted.
- If the affected child insists that she/he needs the presence of a family member/guardian, it should be respected.
- If guardians refuse to pursue the case in a court of law on the child’s behalf, when there is clear evidence, supervisors of child protection case managers may consider pursuing the best interest of the child based on the circumstances of the particular case.
- If a UASC’s legal guardian misuses the authority he/she has over the child and mistreats it, then the guardianship may be withdrawn, if seen in the best interest of the child.
- Periodically, UNHCR and Implementing Partners will review the situation of the child survivor to revise the care plan adopted depending on any rising protection problems to ensure a proper response
- Any decision taken to separate children from their parents should be monitored and UNHCR, FPD and the BID Panel should ensure that it is made according to the safeguards elaborated in Article 9 of the Convention of the Rights of the Child (CRC). The decision to separate a child from his/her parents falls solely within the competence of States (Article 9)
19. Role and responsibilities of BID Coordinator

The BID Coordinator is a UNHCR staff member with extensive experience in child protection. He/she works within the Protection Unit, UNHCR Branch Office, Amman, Jordan. His/her role consists in:

- Ensuring consistency between BID procedures and quality in the various sub and field offices.
- Providing technical guidance and support to the BID supervisors.
- Regularly collecting information and statistics on the BID process from the various field office and/or sub-office.
- Establishing BID panels.

Annex 6

Factors that determine a child's "best interests" checklist

All factors listed below are of relevance when determining which among the available options is in the child's best interests, including identifying the follow-up measures required. The weight of each factor inevitably varies according to the individual child. Advice on the difficult task of balancing these factors is provided in Chapter 3 of the Guidelines.

- Views of the child
  - Child’s wishes and feelings and were these obtained from the child directly?
  - The weight to be given to them, in light of the child’s age and maturity;
  - Child’s ability to comprehend and assess the implications of the various options.

- Safe environment
  - Safety is normally a priority. Exposure or likely exposure to severe harm usually outweighs other factors. Consider:
    - safety in the geographical location/household under consideration
    - availability of life-saving medical treatment for sick children
    - past harm (frequency, patterns, trends)
    - ability to monitor
    - whether root causes of past harm still persist.

- Family and close relationships
  a) General factors:
    - Quality and duration of the relationship and degree of attachment of the child to:
      - siblings
      - other family members
      - other adults or children in the cultural community
      - any potential care-giver;
    - Potential effect of separation from family or change in care-givers on the child;
    - Capacity of current and potential future care-givers to care for the child;
    - Views of persons close to the child, where relevant.
  b) Factors specifically relevant to durable solutions for unaccompanied or separated children:
    - Possibility of family reunification (normally presumed to be in the best interests). Consider whether:
      - tracing has been initiated and its results
      - the efforts made to contact the parents/family directly
      - the family relationship to the child has been verified
      - the child and family member are willing to be reunited and, if not, reasons for any reluctance.
c) Factors specifically relevant to temporary care arrangements:
✓ Retention of family and sibling relationships;
✓ Prospects for care in a family setting;
✓ Prospects of using community care systems (provided they are safe and effective).

d) Factors specifically relevant to separation of a child from parents against their will (normally strongly discouraged):
✓ The views of both and the weight to be attached to them;
✓ Quality of the relationship between the child and parents and likely effect of separation;
✓ Capacity of parents to care for the child;
✓ Capacity of extended family members to care for the child;
✓ Considerations of proportionality in cases involving removal from family.
   Consider:
   □ options for addressing problems in a less intrusive way
   □ maintaining a minimal continuity of contact (e.g. under supervision)
   □ separation for the shortest duration and early deadline for review;
✓ Access rights.

☐ DEVELOPMENT AND IDENTITY NEEDS
✓ The child’s cultural and community network;
✓ Continuity in the child’s ethnic, religious, cultural and linguistic background;
✓ Specific considerations based on age, sex, ability, and other characteristics of the child;
✓ Particular physical or emotional needs;
✓ Physical and mental health considerations;
✓ Educational needs;
✓ Prospects for successful transition to adulthood (employment, marriage, own family).
Annex 7

FAMILY REUNIFICATION
CHECKLIST TO DETERMINE IF A BID IS REQUIRED

This checklist should be completed before facilitating family reunification. A BID, normally in its simplified form, is required if any of the following statements applies (please tick relevant boxes):

☐ The child is not registered with UNHCR and after all reasonable efforts, information gathered on the child and his or her family, remains insufficient to make an informed decision as to whether family reunification could lead to violations of the rights of the child.

☐ Doubts exist as to the legitimacy of the family relationship.

☐ Family members have provided false information about essential facts relating to the reunification (e.g. identity of family members).

☐ There are indications of past or current child abuse or neglect within the household that the child will join.

☐ The family member that the child will join lives in an environment (in detention, in an area affected by armed conflict or natural disaster, etc.) which is likely to expose the child to physical or emotional harm.

☐ The child has disclosed past abuse or neglect, or fears of future harm.

☐ Reunification will or is likely to expose the child to abuse or neglect.

☐ The family member that the child will join is not his or her father or mother.

☐ The child is reluctant to be reunited with the family member(s).

☐ The child and the family member that s/he is joining have never lived together, or have not lived together for a significant period.

☐ The reunification will result in the child being separated from a family member who is close to the child or with whom there has been a dependency, and/or could affect custodial rights or contact with a family member (see BID Guidelines, Section II.3).
