Government & UNHCR cooperation on health to affected populations

Case of Lunda Norte, Angola
Promoting good collaboration with local government is important

Present in more than 134 countries, the UN Refugee Agency works closely with host governments to protect and assist refugees and to find long-term solutions to their problems. Even before UNHCR and other relief organizations are on the scene, host communities are the first provider of support to refugees and asylum-seekers.

A good collaboration is important and in the Angolan municipality of Lóvua, humanitarian workers have implemented this to maximum effect.

The local government carries out many activities in the settlement while humanitarian workers continue to support the government with services to the host community.

In the area of health, Lóvua municipality has just one health center to serve 12,000 inhabitants. There is no doctor in the health system in Lóvua and this means that the 13 nurses in the community have to take on and cure medical cases.

Since 2018, Medicos del Mundo has been UNHCR’s official health partner in Lunda Norte as part of the response to more than 20,000 Congolese refugees who live in Lóvua settlement.

Collaborating health activities and services with the local government is important and UNHCR has been coordinating this with a high degree of success. To this end, UNHCR has also aided the local government in its health service to the host communities.

What  The interview was on the collaboration between UNHCR and the local government as well as wishes for the future

1) How has the local government supported the refugees in Lóvua settlement?

We have supported refugees with regular immunization campaigns as well as the vaccinations of refugees during relocation. We work quite well with UNHCR and its health partner, Medicos del Mundo on many aspects.

2) How has UNHCR improved health services in the municipality of Lóvua?

UNHCR has done a lot for us. They donated medicines as well as an ambulance. UNHCR also constructed health posts in some of our rural villages that will enable us to provide care. Finally, they installed solar lamps in front of the health center, which is very important as we do not always have electricity.

3) What are the challenges that you face in the delivery of health services in the municipality of Lóvua?

We have a challenge with human resources as we are understaffed, for instance we do not have a proper doctor on site. We also have a lack of basic infrastructure such as health posts throughout the municipality, which is large. Finally, there is a lack of a sanitation network and this is one of the reasons why there is poor sanitation in the municipality.

4) What are your wishes for the future in terms of a collaboration with UNHCR?

I think that it would be important for UNHCR to focus on capacity building. For instance in terms of staff, UNHCR could fund scholarships for health staff to build their capacity in specialist areas. Moreover, UNHCR can provide more equipment such as an ECG and transportation.
