Since the 1979 Soviet invasion and the subsequent waves of violence that have rocked Afghanistan, millions of Afghans have fled the country, seeking safety elsewhere. The Islamic Republic of Iran boasts 5,894 km of borders. Most of it, including the 921 km that are shared with Afghanistan, are porous and located in remote areas. According to the Government of Iran, some 2000-2500 Afghans arrive in Iran every day, this number might fluctuate due to COVID-19 and economic challenges in Iran. UNHCR Iran does not have access to border points and thus is unable to independently monitor arrivals or returns of Afghans. Afghans who currently reside in Iran have different statuses: some are refugees (Amayesh card holders), other are Afghans who possess a national passport, while other are undocumented. These populations move across borders in various ways.

780,000
Amayesh Card Holders (Afghan refugees)

In 2001, the Government of Iran issues Amayesh cards to regularize the stay of Afghan Refugees in the country as refugees. Each year, refugees have to renew their Amayesh cards. However, more recently arrived Afghans do not receive an Amayesh card. The Government of Iran is in charge of refugee status determination and UNHCR can advocate for a handful of refugees to receive amayesh cards each year.

2.1-2.25 M
undocumented Afghans

Undocumented is an umbrella term used to describe various groups of foreign nationals residing in Iran including: those with an invalid passport and invalid Iranian visa; those who lost their Amayesh status for different reasons; those who hold a type of document, for example Tazkara, but no legal residence for Iran; and those who are not in possession of any type of document.

586,000
passport holders

There are 275,000 Afghans who hold family passports and 311,000 who have passports with valid visas. The Comprehensive Regularisation Plan (CRP) introduced in 2010 allowed undocumented Afghans to register with the government of Iran, and receive an Afghan passport and a visa (family passport). The visas of those participating in the CRP have been extended at different intervals since 2012, often following high level visits by the government of Afghanistan.

424 voluntarily repatriated in 2021

75% of repatriated are students for whom UNHCR facilitates return to Afghanistan to obtain student visas to pursue studies in Iran. In March 2020, UNHCR suspended its VolRep activities as a preventive measure to reduce exposure to COVID-19. In May 2020, UNHCR partially resumed VolRep activities from its Field Unit in Dogharoun, in keeping with health and security measures, to assist refugees who have opted to return to Afghanistan.

1Afghan “prima facie” refugees. There has not been a prima facie decision or statement by the GIRI on prima facie recognition for this group. Technically Amayesh is a “temporary residency permit” and it does not specifically afford refugee status.

According to the data received from the Government of the Islamic Republic of Iran in October 2020, on which consultations are ongoing, 800,000 refugee card holders reside in Iran, 780,000 of which are Afghans and 20,000 Iraqis.
INTERNAL DISPLACEMENT IN AFGHANISTAN

In 2021, displacement due to ongoing conflict and natural disasters is continuing to drive humanitarian needs in Afghanistan. Almost 49,000 have left their homes this year due to fighting. Many of these people remain displaced across the country, as conflict and poverty prevent them from returning to their areas of origin.

ONWARD MOVEMENT OF AFGHANS

In January 2021, Afghans were the second most common citizenship to claim asylum in Europe (3,900 first-time claims), after Syrians (10,400 claims). In November 2020, 61% of Afghan asylum claimants in Europe were granted international protection, the highest level in 2020. In Oct and Nov, Afghan children made up nearly half of all asylum applications by unaccompanied minors in Europe.
