Security briefing on Syria situation update:

Conflict is still going on in the south of Dara'a. The clashes led to some random shellings in Ramtha, which caused one death and some injuries. Northern area including Bani Kinanah is secure; the borders and the buffer zone protects the area. We do not expect any danger from eastern side.

"The opposition groups in southern of Dara'a includes all political groups, result a heavy 80 bombs. This led to having injuries in Ramtha city because it is so close to Syria. Unfortunately, Syria is still under threat. They are moving to the south we hear that one truck tried to enter Jordan which is a secure area. The threat is coming from the east. We do not expect any danger from eastern side.

Jordan and turkey did not determine the Islamic state (ISIS) coming from where. No guarantee that there are any threats but there are no solutions to make their life better. Still no protection for Bani Kinanah, although the borders are the best protector for them."

WFP update:

WFP lacks funding to implement their programme to the levels they would like and which they believe the refugees need. Having borrowed against all forecast contributions to keep assistance going for July given that it is the holy month of Ramadan and the Eid holiday, they do not have any funding to assist the approximately 440,000 Syrian refugees in the community in August.

They will be sending an SMS to all refugee families telling them that they will not be in a position to provide any assistance to refugees living in the community in August. WFP will be watching to see if the cuts will trigger any major movement to the camps or even returns to Syria.

Health update:

They want to increase the coordination between the organizations provides cash assistance to avoid the duplications specially because the information in the RAIS not up-to-date.
