The boundaries and names shown and the designations used on this map do not imply official endorsement or acceptance by the United Nations.

The percentages shown on the map indicate the proportion of refugees, IDPs, and stateless persons in the population. The map also highlights the main countries of origin and the rural versus urban distribution of the population.

The chart shows the population trends (past 12 months) with a line graph showing the increase in the number of people of concern from July 2020 to June 2021.

The pie charts illustrate the percentage of women and children among refugees and IDPs, with 81% of refugees being women and children and 61% of IDPs being children.

The map also includes a breakdown by country and population group, with specific needs such as child at risk, UASC, specific legal and physical protection needs, woman at risk, single parent, older person at risk, disability, single parent, and serious medical condition among others.
